The Kid Who Loves The Beatles So Much

👁 12 ✓ 0 ★ 2

Chapter 1 by Kristine

There is a kid named Kristine who loves the Beatles so much. She started to listen to the Beatles music when she was 10 years old. Right now she is in school, and she started reading the next question on her test paper: "If you could meet anyone in the world who would be the top of your list?" Then Kristine is thinking of meeting Paul McCartney and Ringo Starr, the surviving Beatles. She said to herself: "If I could meet them it's gonna be the best day ever! But sadly, the Beatles hate the Philippines and they swear that they're never coming back here. And how annoying that I can't go to UK just because we don't have money for vacation. Oh well, never mind, just answer this question." Then after the test, the bell began to ring. It's lunch time.

Kristine is a loner, she sits alone in her lunch table. Kristine always wanted to make friends, but sadly, she could not. She only knew little of what her classmates are talking about. She tried talking to her classmates about her interests but her classmates just nod and continued to do whatever they are doing. Then, Kristine saw a big group of friends in a big lunch table, talking about what kids her age usually talk about. Kristine said, "Ugh, kids my age are always interested at those stupid love teams, I'm even surprised that some of them never heard of the Beatles! Oh, come on, the Beatles are music legends, and they never heard of it?!" Then Kristine continued eating. When she got home, there is a huge crowd nearby, she wondered: "What's going on?"
